Description of Project: This $1 million USD would be made available to fund a broad range of project planning activities over a 12-15 month period, including feasibility studies, technical assistance, workshops, pilot projects and training. Such activities would be designed to support both public and private sector clean energy production and technologies to achieve emissions reductions and market enabling results that target APP performance objectives. Our program would target opportunities identified in China including industrial cogeneration, renewable energy, clean fossil energy, and energy efficiency in multiple sectors. USTDA would provide staff resources and, consistent with USTDA’s program approach, would seek additional resources from private sector entities where appropriate, thereby further leveraging available USG resources.
Project Objectives: USTDA would commission technical experts to identify the pool of candidate projects that meet the aforementioned project eligibility criteria. These technical experts would visit China to develop the “Definitional Mission Master Plan” for APP project candidates. USTDA would prioritize those projects that have strong Chinese federal and state government and private sector backing, and a good likelihood of implementation. The definitional mission contractors would develop scopes of work and supporting budgets, and where appropriate, identify project sponsors that would be willing to share the cost of the identified activity.
